
Parameter passing

Posted by dtws2008 - 2015/09/14 07:41

Hello,
I have an own created database table (Joomla table)
I also have a matching ARI Data Table which lists in one of the columns, a set of linkable values.
I need that upon clicking on a value, a new ARI Data Table will be displayed, with lot of details related to the value.
In other words, I need kind of a zooming (new data table) on a specific value (from an existing data table).
The "new" data table is actually an existing one, based on regular pre defined sql data. This pre defined sql data should include a variable.
The "calling" value will be passed as a parameter to the "new" data table.
This is my kind of thinking. If there is another better solution to the problem please describe.
Thanks.
