Hello,

This problem with position where you try to place the module. The module is assigned to left position, but your site template provides fixed width for this position (231px). Load module into an article or choose appropriate module position. Available module position you can see by this link.

No problem, feel free to ask any questions about the extension. Information how to load a module into an article can be found here.

It happens because container where the module is located has different left and right padding (this is site template styles). Add the following code into "CSS Styles" parameter in module settings that fix it:

```
{ $id }
{
  left: -7px;
}
```
