Do you use the latest version of the module (v. 1.3.13)? If yes, could you provide link to page where we can see this problem?

Install new version of the extension over installed module through standard Joomla! installation. All settings remain untouched after upgrade. If you change module template or CSS files, these changes will be lost.

You copy old files to your local machine, upgrade module, compare new and old files and modify new files with your changes if it is required.

BTW, you can use standard Joomla! feature called "template overriding" that change template of an extension. Read about it here.

You are right about text, it looks strange in Safari browser. Try to set 'Opacity' parameter to '1'. We suppose it should help.

We have checked it on Windows system and it looks fine.

PS: Have you tried to set 'Opacity' parameter in module settings to '1' that avoid problem with text styles?
