
Alignment Problem

Posted by Snapshot - 2014/02/14 04:17

Hello!

I am very new to webhosting, this is actually my first attempt I ever made in a website.

Your slider works like a charm but I can't find how to move it to the right side of the header.

This is the site: <http://www.12170.ckras.com/>

And the header is stretched to all the upper site.

So if I want to place my Site Logo on the left side and the slider on the right (exchange their positions), what should I do?

Thanks a lot!

And great module. :)

Hello!

Click on my website: www.12170.ckras.com

I want to bring the slider more to the right. Move it more to the right.

Is there any CSS Style Code that moves it to the right of the header? Padding or anything?

Thank you in advance!

The module is shown in selected module position which is defined in site template. You can change module position or contact site template developers if you want to modify existing module position.
