
" is appended to my aridoc tag after a save

Posted by ashlic - 2011/03/24 18:03

I added the following code to my Joomla article:

```
{aridoc engine="google" width="650" height="475"}documents/cng.xls{/aridoc}

The document viewer works great and shows up on my website like it should, however, whenever I hit the save button on the article I'm adding aridoc stuff to, a " is added to my aridoc tag, so it looks like this:

```
{aridoc engine="google" width="650" height="475"}documents/cng.xls{/aridoc}"

Each time I save, another " is added. This is showing up under my document on the website and it looks awful. Any ideas on how to get rid of it? I've tried editing the html code and the article content, but it still pops back up whenever I save my article.

Hello,

Try to switch off WYSIWYG editor or change it.

I tried to switch off the WYSIWYG editor, but it didn't make a difference. I tried getting rid of my engine, width, and height tags, and then it stopped adding the /p". So, if I just say {aridoc}documents/cng.xls{/aridoc}, everything looks good on my site...except that I can't modify the height and width, which is no good.

Also, what is the "it" in your earlier reply ("..or change it.")?

Thanks!

Could you provide link to page where we can see the problem and temporary access to your Joomla! backend by email that we can investigate it?

I also have got the same problem. Every time I save the article it adds like this

{aridoc engine="google" width="500" height="400"}mylink{/aridoc}"

I am using joomla 1.6.1 on local host.

Hello,

Open "Content -> Article Manager" page on Joomla! backend, click "Options" button in toolbar, open "Text Filters" tab and set "Filter Type" parameter to "No Filtering" for necessary user group. For example if you logged under super administrator account to Joomla! backend, set "Filter Type" to "No Filtering" for "Super Users" group:

I am still experiencig the same issue after setting Super User to no filtering. It still puts in the regardless what editor I use.

This is a J1.6/J1.7 bug which has not been fixed.

See:

Editors have problems with quotes in content plugins syntax
http://joomlancode.org/gf/project/joomla/tracker/?action=TrackerItemEdit&tracker_id=8103&tracker_item_id=26439

The Plugin Manager still corrupts strings
http://joomlancode.org/gf/project/joomla/tracker/?action=TrackerItemEdit&tracker_id=8103&tracker_item_id=26436

This bug affects any plug-in which uses the param="value" structure in the tag.

A suggested workaround is to add a space after the last pair.

Change this

{aridoc engine="google" width="650" height="475"}documents/cng.xls{/aridoc}

to
{aridoc engine="google" width="650" height="475" }documents/cng.xls{/aridoc}

Have not tested this workaround with this plug-in, but it has worked with some other plug-ins.

Perhaps if more users post their problems in the tracker threads linked above this will increase the pressure to get this bug fixed
