Export to Google Calendar

So glad to find a calendar that works with K2 items. Have things working 'mostly' as desired except for one key issue: An article loaded via event placement on the calendar includes a text line for "Export to" and a button sending to Google Calendar.

I don't see any way to turn this off or to set a template for ANY of the layout of displaying the article shown this way (defaulting to the standard K2 layout would be fine, too). At a minimum, I'd like to be able to remove this Export ... and the only thing I REALLY want from the Details section is the Read More link. Is there a setting / quick way to do this? Or am I going to have to go to the code for this?

Thanks!

Hello,

Add the following CSS rule to a site template CSS file:

```
.calendari-event-export {display: none !important}
```
