
HTML Code Stripped from Description?

Posted by lynmangoro - 2017/06/01 20:49

Hello

I nearly have everything working how I want it. Except I am trying to add descriptions for the Personalities in my quiz, I need to add a couple of images and also Mailchimp form code. However after I add the code and save it, some of it gets stripped out on the results page, mainly the `` tag, meaning the mailchimp form doesn't work properly. This is the code I am adding using the `<code>` code ison:

You are an Angel!

Your results show that your main personality type is the Angel! Fill in your details below to get your full report in your inbox and find out what it means to be an angel and how it can affect and benefit different areas of your life.

Your other Money type results:

Please advise?
Thanks!

Hello,

The problem occurs because the editor removes `` tag. We are going to add support of other editors (try to add support of WP TinyMCE editor) in a future version of the plugin. Currently we can create a simple plugin which will add support of `` shortcode. It will be replaced with `` tags. Is it acceptable for you as a temporary solution?

Thank you! Yes that sounds like it would be great.
But for my Mailchimp form to work I would need to have parameters in the form tag:

Is it possible witht he shortcode to add these parameters?

Thanks!

Yes, sure. All parameters from `` tag will be used in `` tag. In other words it will look like `` on backend and like `` on frontend.

Download "ARI Form Shortcode" plugin here, install and activate it (Open "Plugins -> Add New" page and click "Upload Plugin" button). After this use the following code for personality description:

You are an Angel!

Your results show that your main personality type is the Angel! Fill in your details below to get your full report in your inbox and find out what it means to be an angel and how it can affect and benefit different areas of your life.

Your other Money type results:

Open also "SETTINGS" tab on quiz settings page and enable "Support shortcodes ..." parameter.

Thank you SO much for your fast and detailed help - I have never known such great support from any other plugin I have used.

Now I just need to get the Facebook sharing setup right :)
