Lazy load bug

Hi, there is an old bug, that I've wrote you about several times, but you ignored it. I hope, that now I'll get your attention.

If I turn on lazy load in your plugin's options, and separate quiz questions on different pages (with reload), then the quiz images disappear. Here is a screenshot, how it looks: https://ibb.co/2Ppm3sP

The only way to fix it, is to turn off lazy load for images. Please, fix this bug.

It helped, thanks! However, now I have class "skip-lazy" for all the images in quizzes. Not only with page reload.

Did you just disable lazy loading for every quiz? I have lazy loading enabled now.

This CSS class is added to avoid conflicts with "Jetpack Boost" plugin.

But lazy loading is enabled for all the images in quizzes anyway, right? Either with page reload, or all the questions on one page. Right?

If "Lazy load" option is enabled in plugin settings then this will be applied for all quiz images.

Re:Lazy load bug

I want to report another problem. After I've enabled a page refresh, and 1 question per page, I noticed, that the quiz becomes cached even for other users. And when somebody tries to pass a quiz, he answers 1 question, and instead of next question, the result is shown (with answers already checked - made by other user, or the same user). This didn't happen, when I used all questions on the same page, and without page reload.

I was able to find the solution: I've excluded the quiz page from being cached, and everything works fine. However, I don't want to disable cache for such quizzes.

Is there any other way to solve the problem?

Could you specify which cache plugin is used?
