
PrettyPhoto Displays Below Fancy Lightbox

Posted by okdigitalcontent - 2017/08/17 19:09

Hi, I'm trying to disable PrettyPhoto from opening beneath the ARI Fancy Lightbox on a website.

Link: <http://www.davidphoto.ca/portrait-portfolio/>

Plugins I'm running:

NextGEN Galleries
Justified Photo Grid
ARI Fancy Lightbox

Client wants the functionality of deeplinking, which is why I purchased ARI Fancy Lightbox. I know NextGEN offers that, but am trying to keep cost low for client.

When you click on an image, Fancy Lightbox displays beautifully. But when you close it, the image you clicked on is still displayed in a PrettyPhoto lightbox and you have to close that, too.

Things I have done:

In NextGEN Galleries > Other Options > Lightbox Effects set to ARI Fancy Lightbox and set to only apply to nextgen galleries and WordPress images.

In Justified Image Grid > Lightboxes > Lightbox Type > set to Custom. Mobile version is set to Same as desktop.

I have not tried adding a link class or rel because I thought Fancy Lightbox would do that (which it does), but am thinking the PrettyPhoto needs to be removed somehow.

Thanks!

Hello,

PrettyPhoto is attached to images by theme. To fix this issue, open "Advanced" tab on "ARI Fancy Lightbox -> Settings" page and populate "Custom JS code" texture with the following code:

setTimeout(function() {
    $('a, a, a, a, a, a, a:has(img)').off('click.prettyphoto');
}, 10);

Hello again,

Sorry to reopen this issue, but the problem has not resolved itself on one particular gallery. See the link:

Could it be the type of album it's displaying?

Thanks!

Try to replace the following code:

setTimeout(function() {
  $('a, a, a, a, a, a, a, a:has(img)').off('click.prettyphoto');
}, 10);
```

with the following one:

$(window).load(function() {
  $('a, a, a, a, a, a, a, a:has(img)').off('click.prettyphoto');
});
