Open Thumbnails by Default (Solved)

I wrote a jQuery snippet to open thumbnails when opening the gallery:

```
$('.ari-fancybox').click(function(){ setTimeout(function(){
    if ("onhashchange" in window) {
      $('.fancybox-button.fancybox-button--thumbs').trigger('click');
    }
  }, 500);
});

The half second delay is to allow enough time for the gallery to load. Note that I couldn't get this to work in the advanced tab, but it should work when loading within a theme.js file followed by wrapping it with a jQuery container.

Is it possible when the lightbox is opened for thumbnails to open by default? I see that when the class "fancybox-show-thumbnails" exists on the div with fancybox-container it shows the thumbnails. Is there JavaScript that can be appended to the lightbox that adds class "fancybox-show-thumbnails" when the lightbox loads?

Hello,

You can also try this solution.
