
target=\"blank\" attribute not re-loading

Posted by wearetak - 2024/08/21 20:35

Hi again,

Would really appreciate help in solving this.

www.wearetak.com

On first page load, the Ari Lightbox works perfectly. However, if I click on the "About" or "Contact" menu links, and go back to "Work", the attributes that make the lightbox work are missing in the html code. I'm assuming it's some sort of re-loading issue but not sure if there's a way to force that?

I am using a Wordpress theme called Semplice if that helps at all.

Thank you,
Alex

Hello,

Unfortunately we can't open the site to investigate the problem. It is protected by password.

Currently we see the problem with dynamic content. Page content is received when password is entered and then this is dynamically injecting into current page without lightbox attribute. You can try to add the following code to "ARI Fancy Lightbox -> Settings -> Advanced -> Custom JS code" parameter:

if (typeof MutationObserver !== 'undefined') { var mutationObserver = new MutationObserver(function(mutations) { var nodesAdded = false;
    for (var i = 0; i < mutations.length; i++) { if ('childList' === mutations.type) { nodesAdded = true;
      }
    }
  });
  if (nodesAdded) {
    var instance = window;
    instance.convertElements();
}
```

```
});

mutationObserver.observe(document.querySelector('body'), {
  childList: true,
  subtree: true,
  attributes: false
}
```

Apologies for the late response..

This worked perfectly! Thank you so much for the support.

Best,
Alex
